HORSE THIEF TAKEN BACK

Liveryman from Whom the Outfit Was Stolen and an Officer Arrived in the City Yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Wales, of Broome county, New York, and Liveryman Perry Heath, of Binghamton, arrived in Scranton at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Heath is the man from whom the horse and carriage were hired by the young man who wanted to sell them for $18 to Manager H. V. O'Malley, of the Scranton Parcel Delivery company.

After Chief of Police Robling arrested the horse thief he called up the chief of police of Binghamton by telephone and stated the case to him, giving a description of the outfit and of the prisoner in custody. The Binghamton chief answered that Liveryman Heath would be down in the morning.

Before leaving Binghamton the liveryman swore out a warrant for John Deely, who is the young man's name. Deputy Sheriff Wales presented it to Chief Robling, and the chief said that the prisoner was willing to go to Binghamton without requisition papers.

That being the case he was taken back on the 5:55 afternoon Delaware, Lackawanna and Erie train. The grand jury of Broome county is in session this week and will be in session next week, too. The chief assured the deputy that the town attorney's witness will go to Binghamton next Monday, when this case will come up before the grand jury.

Liveryman Heath remained in the city last night and will start home this morning. He said that the prisoner came to his place Tuesday morning and hired the outfit to do some errands in Binghamton. When he did not return at night an investigation was made and the news was received that the prisoner had been driving around the town aimlessly for several hours inquiring many times for the road leading out of town.

The prisoner was given a preliminary hearing yesterday morning in police court by Mayor Ball and was committed for a further disposition of his case. He at first refused to give his name, and a second time he was asked he said it was of little use to ask him in the next cell to him that it was Harry Greenwood and that his home is in Boston.

REARGUMENT IS REFUSED. James Gannon Will Have to Remain in the County Jail.

From present indications James Gannon, who has been in the county jail for many weary months because he refused to sign down to a decision by the court, is destined to spend many more weary months there unless he accepts the logic of the situation and complies with the order of the court.

At the last meeting of the supreme court in Pittsburgh Attorney Richard Busted, Jr., representing Gannon, presented to the court a decision asking for a re-argument of the case before that body. Preliminary steps were also taken to secure a writ of habeas corpus.

WEALTH OF THE COUNTY.

The Last Assessed Valuation Places It at Nearly Thirty Millions.

From the statement of the finances of the county, which, according to the act of 1874, must be filed by the county commissioners prior to the issuance of bonds, the following information is gleaned:

The actual indebtedness of the county is $129,000, consisting of various coupon bonds in the hands of various holders. The amount of the last assessed valuation was $29,264,749.

The amount of debt now to be incurred for the alterations and repairs about the court house is $129,000. This is to be incurred by issuing 120 coupon bonds of the denomination of $1,000, redeemable in 20-year lots annually, commencing in 1906.

The amount of tax levied and assessed to pay said indebtedness is one-third of one mill upon each dollar of valuation upon all property taxable for county purposes, which will yield annually $278, which is more than 8 per cent. of the amount of bonds to be issued, and which with a good sized margin to spare, meets with the requirements of the law.
